THE NAIS BOOKSTORE 2020-2021

Resources for Independent Schools
Make Your Life Easier With NAIS Books

1. Get practical training tools. NAIS offers specialized handbooks for your board (pages 4 and 5) and volunteers (pages 6 and 9). They’ll find the guides informative and insightful. You’ll find them easy to distribute.

2. Get your message across. Use the booklet Gifts That Give Back to tell families why you ask for donations in addition to tuition (page 9).

3. Get must-know research and data you can’t find anywhere else. Explore the issues affecting independent schools with the latest Trendbook (page 3). Also learn to raise more money (page 8); boost enrollment (page 8); and facilitate diversity, inclusion, and equity and justice (page 7).

Save money, too!

NAIS books are discount-priced for NAIS members and for bulk purchases. Buy five or more of the same title to get 20% off—on top of your member discount.

The NAIS Enrollment Management Handbook

Christine Baker, Editor

Whether you’re new to enrollment management or just want to fine-tune your program, this handbook offers wise counsel on broad strategies as well as tactics you can put to use immediately. Expert authors bring the unique independent school perspective to advice about how to:

- Structure your enrollment management operation for results
- Make smart use of tuition setting, financial aid, and institutional discounting to reach enrollment and revenue targets
- Lay the foundation for success through institutional research, strategic marketing planning, brand stories, and technology
- Coordinate recruitment and retention so your school doesn’t lose hard-won students at re-enrollment time
- Ensure your enrollment management is streamlined, not siloed — a school-wide approach from the time families first learn of your school until their students graduate

The Enrollment Management Handbook is ideal for professionals in admissions, financial aid, development, communications, and marketing. But it’s also must reading for heads of school and division heads and deans. As NAIS President Pat Bassett writes, “Boards rightly expect their heads to be experts about enrollment management, the golden goose of our business. The challenge for deans and division heads is, if anything, greater… creating the conditions for student and faculty success that make re-enrollment almost a given.”
